The Actors

Jody Carmen returned to the stage in 1999 after a 15-year hiatus. She appeared in The Jolly Roger Theatre production of "Picasso at the Lapin Agile," directed by Tom Nunan, when she met Mike Wall. Since that time, Jody continues to take part in the Kodiak Arts Council and Rotary Dinner Theatre productions.

Michelle Jutras returns to the stage after six years. Michelle began her acting career in 2001 during her husband's first Kodiak Coast Guard Tour, with the Jolly Roger Theatre Company. She acted in "Five Women Wearing the Same Dress" and "Beyond Therapy." Now back in Kodiak for a second tour, she is thrilled to be back on stage.

Wes Hanna has developed his talents both onstage, as an actor, and behind the scenes, assisting as a sound technician, in the four years since a wild squall blew him onto the Island. Recently, he acted in the Fairwind Players kick-off production of the Peter Sagal drama "Denial." "Christmas Belles" is the third Dinner Theatre he has acted in. This time he gets to keep his pants on.

Bill Bissett is Santa with a flair! He had to gain a few pounds to play Santa, doing both as a labor of love. Bill is a regular in the Dinner Theatre scene.

Laurie Murdock appears in her third Dinner Theatre production. She had always wanted to act in a play but never had the time while raising kids and working in the family business. Laurie has been friends with Mike Wall since she moved to Kodiak 20 years ago. Mike knows her to be a bit of a ham so he gave her a chance to act, first in "Death and Taxes," then in "A Bad Year for Tomatoes" and now, "Christmas Belles."

Lindsey Bidder is new to Kodiak, having arrived from Virginia in August, 2007. This is her first play since high school drama, and she could not be more excited! This has been a great experience for Lindsey, and she looks forward to future productions.

David Weinand is an old hand in the Kodiak theater scene, going back to performances in the "Cry of the Wild Ram," to several Kodiak Arts Council productions. A highlight of his performances would have to be his Pharaoh (a la Elvis) in "Joseph and His Multi-Color Dream Coat." He also appeared in several plays directed by Tom Nunan at the Coast Guard Base. Dave has appeared in every Dinner Theatre to date.

Brenda Bloch has lived on Kodiak Island for 2 1/2 years. She is a stay-at-home mom of three young boys and finds participating in theater a nice and necessary break. Brenda began acting in college, performing in musicals, "Anything Goes" and "South Pacific." Her Kodiak performances include "Little Shop of Horrors" and "Evil Little Thoughts." Being a native of Mississippi, "Christmas Belles" strikes a nostalgic chord as it reminds her of personalities and situations from her own community.

Andrew Ott is a veteran of the Kodiak stage, but this is only his third Dinner Theatre production. In preparation for his role as Raynerd Chisum, Andrew attended extensive wagon-pulling training courses offered on the internet to develop the proper pulling technique.

Angie Chervenak is a 19-year Kodiak resident, with a variety of experiences in the Kodiak Arts Community. From performer to conductor, she has found pleasure sharing her love of the Arts. She continues to teach English and band at Kodiak Middle School where she instills the love of the Arts in her students.

Chrystle White was part of the Aleutian Chain Gang Acting Troupe, where they performed to captive audiences. With Christmas on its way, Chrystle would like everyone to know her favorite movie is "Scrooged." She covets gourmet licorice bridge mix and needs a new insulated coffee mug . . . Just in case she's on anyone's shopping list.
